Our View

Market sentiment remained undamaged

- Despite the aggravated military confrontation in Ukraine, most stock markets registered gain last week. At the same time, US treasury bonds demonstrated strength and the gold price had no sign of shooting up. The market sentiment remained undamaged. Possibility of interest rate hike seems already been well received and is no longer perceived as a big threat.

Equities

- U.S. stocks rose, finishing the biggest monthly gain since February, amid improving economic data and speculation central banks will continue to spur growth. Economic reports showed consumer confidence unexpectedly rose in August, while consumer spending dropped in July for the first time in six months. The pace of US economic growth in the second quarter was revised upward to a seasonally adjusted, annualized 4.2% from an initial estimate of 4.0%. New applications for unemployment benefits fell by 1,000 to a seasonally adjusted 298,000 in the week ended 23 August.
- European stocks rose this week. Euro-area inflation slowed this month to the weakest rate since 2009, increasing pressure on the European Central Bank to add stimulus. Consumer prices rose 0.3 % in August from a year earlier after a 0.4 % increase in July.
- Asian stocks were mixed. China shares slipped this week as a batch of initial public offerings started taking subscriptions, diverting money from existing stocks and pulling down the indexes to multi-week lows during the week. Japanese stocks dropped. Japan's industrial production rose just 0.2% in July, less than expected. Inflation rate was unchanged, confirming that Japan's economy remains soft following the April sales-tax increase.

Bonds

- The yields on 10- and 30-year Treasury debt reached their lowest levels in more than 12 months this week. Sparking the declines was fighting in Ukraine and the Middle East.

Commodities

- Gold remained in its range this week, although geopolitical impacts on the price, improving economic conditions, the threat of rising interest rates and a strong dollar limit the upside.
- Oil prices posted their first weekly gain in five weeks as rising tension in Ukraine made market watchers nervous about additional sanctions on Russia and positive U.S. economic data lifted demand expectations.

英業市評

投資情緒仍然安好

- 雖然烏克蘭局勢有所升溫，但除了俄羅斯可能面對歐洲新一輪制裁而令其股市下跌之外，環球股市基本上還是造好。同時美債錄有進賬，傳統避險資產黃金價格也未見大升，顯示市場氣氛仍然良好，對於加息的憂慮也不很深。

股票

- 美國股市上漲，錄得二月以來最大一個月升幅，因經濟數據改善以及預期央行將會繼續有經濟刺激措施。經濟報告顯示消費者信心意外在八月上漲，然而消費者支出七月下滑，為六個月以來首次。美國第二季度經濟增速被上調，從初值 4%，調整到按年升 4.2%。8 月 23 日結束的一周，首次申請失業救濟人數下降 1,000 人到經濟季節調整后的 298,000 人。
- 歐洲股市本周上漲。歐元區通脹在本月放緩，為 2009 年以來最弱，這更加給歐洲央行實行刺激政策施加了壓力。在消費者價格指數七月上漲 0.4% 之後，八月按年上漲 0.3%。
- 亞洲股市漲跌不一。中國股市本周錄得下跌，因又一輪 IPO 重啟，分散現有股市的資金，壓低股指到幾個星期低位。日本股市也下跌。日本工業生產在七月僅上漲 0.2%，不如預期。日本通脹率沒有變化，顯示出日本經濟在四月份消費稅增加之後，經濟持續疲軟。

債券

- 本周 10 年期以及 30 年期政府債券的收益率觸及 12 個月多最低水平。烏克蘭以及中東的動亂有所緩解促使收益率走低。

商品

- 黃金價格本周維持在區間波動，儘管地緣政治問題對金價的正面影響，但經濟狀況好轉，利率可能上調的擔憂，美元走強都對黃金產生活壓。
- 油價本周錄得五周以來的首次上漲，因烏克蘭的緊張局勢令市場觀望者擔心俄羅斯將會受到更多制裁，以及積極的美國經濟數據增加需求上漲的預期。
